

Brickendon expertise: Brexit - validating the solution

Brickendon Consulting has created multiple accelerators that allow end-to-end validation of the solution ensuring the success of the Brexit project

Client Challenges:

- ❏ Size: high probability of failure due to the sheer size of the Brexit programme
- ❏ Uncertainty: difficult to track the success of the solution because of uncertainty around the Brexit requirements
- ❏ Multiple systems: delayed issue resolution due to the involvement of multiple internal and external systems
- ❏ Timing: problems performing root-cause analysis on any issues raised during testing cycles and resolving them in a timely and accurate manner
- ❏ Cost: differing timelines and levels of readiness due to the front-to-back nature of the project make end-to-end testing of the Brexit programme very expensive

Brickendon Solution:

- ❏ Test planning and preparation: start with the known Brexit requirements to help create the correct test data and use Brickendon's Time Checkpoint System (TCPS) to ensure resources are estimated and allocated accurately within the project
- ❏ Test execution: use Brickendon's Automated Intelligent Regression Testing (AIRT) solution to enable continuous integration in a timely manner thanks to the automated selection and execution capability targeting regression test scenarios accordingly
- ❏ Test report automation: customise automated test reports to meet the requirements of multiple key stakeholders
- ❏ Test control environment: use data validation techniques to ensure the quality of the data and test the quality of the environment by implementing health monitoring methodologies and entry criteria quality checks

Client Benefits:

- ❏ Increased efficiency: more realistic and accurate planning of testing timelines gives a better chance of timely completion of the Brexit project and more efficient use of resources
- ❏ Improved timescales: higher probability of identifying defects in the early stages of testing gives more time for fixing and re-validation throughout the Brexit project
- ❏ Increased flexibility: timely and informative automated status reports save manual effort and allow internal changes to be made as the external Brexit plan evolves
- ❏ Improved accuracy: the new robust and adequate testing environment increases the accuracy of results and ensures the full utilisation of resources on test execution, validation and defect resolution
